Department of Political Science Undergraduate Research Prize
2019 Nomination Form

Deadline: April 26, 2019  4:00 pm

The Department of Political Science awards undergraduate research prizes for the most outstanding Political Science research projects completed by a Political Science student. There are two awards: a junior-level prize for projects by Freshman-Juniors and a senior-level prize for projects by Seniors. Each spring at the department’s Celebration of Achievement, a $500 prize will be awarded to one project in each category completed during the year preceding the event. Any finished major research project on a Political Science topic is eligible for consideration, including, but not limited to those completed by Political Science majors for the Distinction Program, Honors Theses, semester papers, and the department’s summer Research Experience for Undergraduates program. Eligible projects may be self-nominated or nominated by a department faculty member. Please type or print clearly.

Nominee ___________________________________________  Student ID _______________________

Current Undergraduate Major(s) __________________________________________________________

Total number of hours completed: _______ as of _________ Hours competed in Major _______________________

Expected graduation date ________________

Research Project Title

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

____________________________________________________________________________________

Nominator:

Self _____

Other ____________________________________________________  (Name and Department)

PLEASE SUBMIT THIS COMPLETED FORM AND AN ELECTRONIC COPY OF THE PAPER TO:

Dr. James Scott, Department of Political Science

j.scott@tcu.edu